

TAORMINA WINDOWS

Replacement windows and shutters must look similar to those existing prior to 1987, the end of the original historic construction period. Current exceptions are grandfathered in until such time as a remodel is undertaken. Windows are allowed with metal, vinyl and/or wood frames and are normally rectangular in shape; bay-style windows are permitted.

If windows that are not rectangular are part of the original construction plans of a home then they are considered as "exempt." Small non-rectangular windows that have been added since the original construction are permitted when they are used only as accent decoration.

Front doors are rectangular.
